

Golf VI Razor Roof Spoiler

Application: Golf VI (GTi, GTD, R)

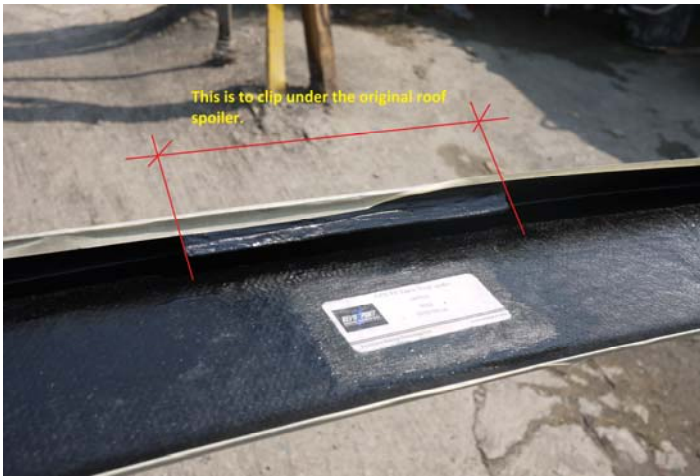

The Razor Roof spoiler is made to clip on top of the original GTi, GTd and R roof spoiler.

There's no preparation needed for the original spoiler. Just make sure it is clean for adhesive purpose.

When you received the Razor roof spoiler, please make sure you see a thin black strip at the middle bottom of the spoiler. This piece is to secure the roof spoiler in position.

The clip

The size of the clip is about the spread of your fingers. There's a slight chance that this clip maybe a bit too long and requires trimming but this is not the usual case. Try to test fit it on your car first and see if the size is right. If not, try trimming it down.

Carefully mount the bottom part of the spoiler first and that clip the top part. It basically just snaps on.

Carefully mount the bottom part of the spoiler first and then clip the top part to towards the end of the original spoiler.

It basically just snaps on.

To further secure the roof spoiler, you can put a few drops of silicon around the edge of the Razor spoiler.

Push further in so that it clips on to the end of the original spoiler.

Push further in so that it eventually clips to the original roof spoiler.

Once it clips on, use masking tape to hold the Razor spoiler down for a few hours to let the silicon dry up.

Once it clips on, use masking tape to hold the Razor spoiler down for a few hours and let the silicon dry up.